PRODUCT PRODUCTION

When Laminated

The protection of the product can improve the appearance, performance and durability. Any print exposed to abrasive elements (vehicles included), cleaning or chemical products should include protection, in order to be properly used.

Please check our range of products to find out the lamination that best suits your needs.

PRINTING

Proper drying

An high amount of ink in the film will result in changes in its characteristics, such as improper drying, lamination detachment and / or poor performance of the product.

An inadequate drying may result on improper winding, wrinkles and faults in the grip, which is translated on a poor performance of the material. Please, invest on the correct time for a proper drying of the product. A period of minimum 48 hours drying before any additional processing is recommended. The drying should be done with the product unwound.
